

Good to see you!

Singleton is a digital product studio aimed at making things that make sense. We come from Estonia – the most digitally advanced society in the world. So we have been in the middle of the rapid it-development world for some time now and know the business of it. Technology should work for humans, not the other way around.

So that's what we do: build products and services that make sense. That are smart. That are needed.

As the last years have given us many valuable experiences we can now say that we are not just a development partner but a business partner for our clients. To take things to the next level. To make things better.

We work for the better future with an “everything is possible” vibe.

Our approach

- 01 We aim to get to the root of the problem – Because sometimes a client might need a fix for something they haven't even thought of.
- 02 We get going and learn – The urge to evolve and explore drives us. We are not stubborn about changing the path in the middle of a process. If that's what is needed to best fix a client's problem.
- 03 We make sure – It is best to launch even a small portion of the work quickly and work on from there. Experiment. So that it's not only in our heads but on paper. Fast.
- 04 We are flexible – If need be we will take the process into detailed parts to find the place where something needs to be modified or changed. To do it right!

Our client's clients matter.

We are exceptionally proud of our team. Not just because they are great at what they do but because they are nice people who vibe well together. Building a connected and happy team is as important as building a solid solution to a client. Attitude over skills. Skills can be learned. Attitude you have.

What we promise
