ARGO creative

Company Introduction

ARGO develops and manufactures an integrated platform for face and body tracking recognition-based AR contents with interactive kiosks that allow people to have fun memories while experiencing fun augmented reality. We are developing interactive AR contents and kiosk that incorporates new entertainment technology elements such as animated avatars. With AI (body tracking recognition-based) AR kiosks, everyone can make 3D animations. We are at the forefront of the augmented reality hardware sector, which focuses on facial analysis, detection and instant scanning to complete the 3-D avatar technology. We received a patent for detecting the users' face and body flexion and motion through AI-based motion capture, and generating them by emoji of augmented reality. In the future, our technology will expand the content to the Metaverse. This is the direction towards the interaction between the real economy and the Metaverse.
