COMPLETE DEVELOPMENT

Product Oriented

With the product oriented method, our primary focus is on efficiently building a quality product, its design, features, capabilities, its subsequent design and manufacture. This model gives the broad opportunity for a technology to be developed that can be used for a wider range of products later.

Project Oriented

Unlike standard businesses, projects are custom designed items to fit specific requirements. One major advantage of project oriented approach comes with the possibility of a very attractive return on capital investment. This approach also brings the opportunity to develop the company's technical capabilities and build a technology and experience base for future businesses and growth.

Hybrid (Co-Development)

Hybrid model is based on the alignment between business strategy, execution plan and the best practice to build exceptional customer experiences. With hybrid development models you get:

- Shortened design, analysis and planning
- Easier definition for projects including budget and time of delivery
- Strict compliances with the standards
- Enhanced collaboration

Dedicated Development Center

If you are looking for a good combination of professional workforce and lower operational costs, dedicated development centers are there for your company. With a team of qualified developers who work only on your projects and comply with the policies and culture of your company, you can dedicate a large part of development to your dedicated development team while focus your home team on some specific tasks and new directions.

- Maximum Benefits with Minimum Costs

Clean Connect is a new human resources establishment of Sigma Group to ensure the highest level of client service at lower costs with Sigma Group's high-level connections in large companies from different sectors and geographies. We present our solutions to every one of our business partners through our European and MENA offices to find best candidates at minimum costs. We cross the geographical borders with our human resources of talented people to build teams that are dedicated only for your needs. Meanwhile we could also set up an actual office in Turkey to help expand your operation at lower cost without having a time difference dividing your teams.

- Decades of Global Network Experience

Clean Connect's expertise comes from its parent company Sigma Group's two decades of experience and global network from 170 countries all around the world. It is in the core of our organization to create perfect solutions for companies around the globe. We bridge between experts and businesses with our know-how on bringing qualified people together to build dedicated and expert teams for successful projects.

- Qualified People from Turkey's Competitive Workforce

We bring you Turkey's ultimate workforce with advantages of European neighborhood, similar time zone and large pool of talented people with competitive labor to grow your organization at minimum costs. And all the employee recruitment processes are managed by Clean Connect for you. We create the best teams for your needs on software solutions, automation systems, robotic process automation, mobile application development, call center, IT service, finance, education and many other fields.
